CAPTAIN LAWLER WOULD LEASE HOTEL

Wants to Secure the Mills Building for Hotel But Molls May Not Favor Plans.

Capt. James Lawler, formerly proprietor of the Rice and Brazos hotels of Houston, is here in an effort to secure a new hotel in El Paso. Capt. Lawler wishes to open a hotel here as soon as possible, and he has been in conference with a number of business men regarding the project. One of the things now under consideration is the conversion of the new Anson Mills building into a modern, fireproof, 12 story hotel. The only thing in the way of this is said to be Gen. Mills's aversion to a hotel building. Capt. Lawler is said to have had a number of conferences with Gen. Mills on the subject and has suggested his plans for a hotel building on the site of the new Anson Mills building. Another project which includes the Anson Mills building, is the leasing or purchase of the St. Regis hotel and the leasing of the upper six floors of the Mills building for hotel rooms. This would make a hotel with accommodations for all of the people who are expected here for several years. It is said there is a hitch in this plan. The owners of the St. Regis do not want to lease the building. The only offer which will be considered will be to purchase the property outright. While it is understood that Capt. Lawler has a number of influential men willing to back him in his project of giving El Paso a new hotel as soon as possible, it is not thought likely that they would finance the project to the extent of purchasing the valuable St. Regis and its site.

On a number of other occasions, Gen. Mills has declined to consider a proposition to make a hotel of his new building. He is building the big 12-story building as a monument and he prefers an office building rather than a hotel on the site.

Capt. Lawler has been here for the past week and is working hard to bring his negotiations to a successful conclusion. He is well known as a hotel man in east Texas, having been identified with a number of hotels in Houston and other cities of the state.

TOYAH GAS USED TO OPERATE MACHINERY

The Texas company is using the gas from the No. 1 well at the Toyah oil field to operate its drilling machinery. This was the report brought from the front by Fred W. Freeman, local manager of the Texas company, who returned from Toyah on the delayed Texas & Pacific train Wednesday.

"The gas is not flowing steady," manager Freeman said, "but it is being used by the drilling crew to operate its drill at No. 1 well whenever the flow of gas is strong enough. It is not known yet what kind of a gas this is. The No. 1 well is being sunk to a deeper level, just how deep I do not care to say. Work on the No. 2 well has been temporarily suspended because of the breaking of a drill. New tools have been secured and it is thought that work on this well will be resumed within three or four days. The drillers will go back to the No. 2 well as soon as the broken drill is removed."

"When the No. 1 well was uncapped, after being capped for several months, some oil was found in the casing. How much of this there was I do not know, as I was not there when the well was uncapped. The indications are favorable in the Toyah field and aside from that there is nothing more to say. There is nothing new at the wells and the story printed in The Herald Tuesday was a fair statement of conditions as they really exist at the field."

Dr. Cook Threatens to Reopen Pole Controversy

New York, Aug. 1.—Dr. Frederick Cook, the discredited polar explorer, according to his close friend, Capt. James Osborn, is within a stone's throw of New York. Capt. Osborn also announces that Dr. Cook expects his records from Etah almost any day and as soon as they arrive, he will come out of hiding and lay his claims before the American public once more, deying commander Perry, and charge that the latter did not reach the north pole.

ROCK ROADS AS MONEY MAKERS.

There is yet to come to this writer from any community of Missouri which has invested in rock roads an account different from a general summary such as: "Our rock road proves to be one of the best investments, in a public way, that we have ever made." It is safe to say that not for double the cost would any community give up its rock roads and return to the old-time dirt road condition.

The people of Pleasant Hill, in Cass county, and the farming neighborhood to its north have constructed and are now using a well built rock road from Pleasant Hill to the south line of Jackson county, a distance of about four miles. This road cost $18,000, or $4,500 per mile. What this road has done in raising farm incomes and farm values, by its economy in market transportation over a previous dirt road, can be best understood by asking from a recent letter from Roy T. Cloud, editor of the Pleasant Hill Times, to this writer. The letter states:

"As to the effect of the building of a rock road from this city to the Jackson county line has had on the value of farm lands adjacent thereto, will say that the average value has risen perhaps 25 per cent, this being the opinion which I had entertained, but which I have taken care to verify by questioning real estate men and others here in a position to know. I will give you two instances: The Lawrence Knepp farm on the county line (Cass-Jackson) had never been priced above $75 per acre up to the time of the construction of the road; but within a year after the road was put in use, Mr. Knepp sold his place at $112.50 per acre, and what he said about it (which was the general opinion of those supposed to have an idea of land valuations) was that the advance was almost solely due to the road. Another tract of about 125 acres in this county, immediately north of Pleasant Hill, which had long been held at $50 (it was unimproved land) sold a few months after we had completed our road at $65. The present owner, Allen Acord, has refused an offer of $80 an acre for it. On the whole, you will be safe in saying that the advance of lands adjacent to this road (it is a beautiful road) has been 25 per cent. Incidentally, I may say that it has also greatly stimulated property values in that part of our town through which it passes, a distance of two miles."

There are hundreds of country Missouri neighborhoods yearly suffering the losses, inconveniences and aggravations of dirt roads that can build rock roads as cheaply, and in many cases cheaper, than did the Pleasant Hill people. They are as wealthy and many are wealthier. The rock road will bring us great a profit. Why don't they get together, go to work and build them?
